Healthwise relocates to historical building in Financial District

Healthwise has moved to Toronto's Financial District and is now located in the historical Trader's Bank Building at Yonge and King. Designed by New York's Carrère and Hastings, the building was the first true skyscraper in Toronto. At the time of its completion in 1906 it was the tallest building in the British Commonwealth until 1911 and it remains one of Canada's few surviving skyscrapers of the early 20th Century.

Healthwise prides itself in providing the expertise necessary to help companies succeed. Its team of senior staff has launched 70 products to date and worked on over 100 brands and services from categories across the spectrum. With experience comes the ability to see through complex problems, recognize opportunities, and create results.
